Disclaimer

This presentation is a draft for discussion purposes only. It may include information with respect to actual or potential prescriptions for uses of our products that are not presently approved by the FDA and thus not promoted by Teva. Off-label promotion is against company policy. Sales and marketing promotional activity is strictly limited to the indications currently listed in the products' respective package inserts. Information about non-promoted prescriptions is to be used only for legitimate business planning purposes (e.g., discussions of ongoing or potential clinical development plans, considerations of promotional strategies if and when new indications are approved, production planning, and for budgeting and forecasting revenues). All revenue assumptions or projections assume strict compliance with Teva's policy prohibiting any promotion of off-label uses of our products.

Pain Matters Screening

A one-hour, non-CME PDM program

Friday, September 5
8:10 a.m. – 9:10 a.m.

Approximately 200 Attendees

Purpose: Leverage the film to explore perspectives of multiple stakeholders around unmet needs in chronic pain care and generate dialogue around the future of pain management

Objectives:

- Shed light on the real impact of chronic pain through personal stories and insight into the individual and societal burden
- Review how the patient/physician dialogue can be optimized
- Discuss the future of pain management and the potential role of abuse deterrence technology

Proposed Participants:

- Penney Cowan, executive director, American Chronic Pain Association (featured in documentary and survey partner)
- Bob Twillman, PhD, director of policy and advocacy, American Academy of Pain Management (featured in documentary and survey partner)
- Derek McGinnis, Iraq War veteran who lives with chronic pain as a result of injuries sustained abroad (featured in documentary)
- Melanie Rosenblatt, MD, medical director of pain management, North Broward Medical Center (featured in documentary)
- Paul J. Christo, MD, MBA, assistant professor of anesthesiology and critical care, Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine (Moderator)

ADT Product Theater

A one-hour, non-CME PDM program

Saturday, September 6

12:00 p.m. – 1:30 p.m.

Approximately 300 Attendees

Objective: To align with ADT pillar platform

Discussion Topics:

- Review the terminology, prevalence, and impact of misuse, abuse, and diversion of opioid-based therapeutics
- Discuss the role of HCPs in mitigating the abuse risks associated with prescribing opioid-based medicines
- Provide an industry overview on the development of AD technologies, including Teva's proprietary AD technology

Proposed Speakers:

- Jeffrey Gudin, MD, director of pain management and palliative care, Englewood Hospital
- Charles Argoff, MD, assistant professor of neurology, New York University School of Medicine
